Manual Handling

Practical workshop explaining and demonstrating manual handling

Target Audience

This session is designed for all staff with duties which involve lifting

Course Details

This course provides information to individuals, to help reduce the risk of manual-handling injuries and includes the following:

- Definition of manual handling and an overview of the Manual Handling Operations Regulations 1992
- Recognising manual handling hazards
- Understanding injuries arising from poor manual-handling techniques
- Risk assessing manual handling activities: looking at the task, environment and load, together with individual capabilities
- Practical advice on good individual and team lifting techniques
- Techniques for safe pushing and pulling activities

The course includes a practical session providing delegates with the opportunity to practice good lifting techniques. Candidates are assessed through observation and a short questionnaire. A certificate of attendance is issued upon successful completion of the course.
